SABIDURIA 2005

The Sabiduria yearbook has been published at Missouri Valley College for nearly 100 years. But like all traditions involved with the education of college students, evaluation for improvement is an appropriate goal. The year 2004-2005 was a financial belt-tightening year for MVC. Budget cuts occurred.

The challenge for the yearbook project was to use its budget effectively in documenting college history while providing the opportunity for diverse classroom education and experience.

While past yearbooks had substantial budgets, nonetheless the projects resulted in limited amounts of yearbooks in book form, providing yearbooks to fewer than 500 of the 1,400-plus student population. The book format also had its limitations, such as a number limit of pages and the limitations of black-and-white photographs. In a technological world of color and film, it seemed that more could be done. So, the Sabiduria yearbook charted a new path to expand possibilities in format and education, to use less funding more wisely, and to creatively expand the boundaries of student use of media and technology.

The experimental result for 2004-2005 attempts to continue the historical documentation of a year at MVC, with editions of book-form yearbooks for the institution while venturing into additional media forms, using digital photographs and DVDs, for the enjoyment of more students.

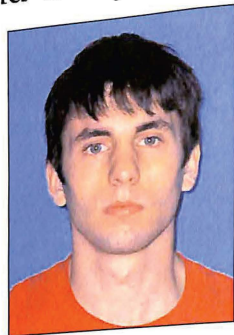

We hope that you like the changes, and also will understand why they became a part of the Sabiduria tradition.

Memorial Dedication

The 2005 Sabiduria Yearbook project, with DVD and special edition book, is dedicated in memory of Missouri Valley College students Frankie Baldwin, Christopher Bartos, and Corey Gibbons

New college president selected

Delta Story by Ryann Schmidt
(published Feb. 15, 2005)

Bonnie Humphrey, the new president of Missouri Valley College, is the first woman to hold that position in the college's 116-year history.

The MVC Board of Trustees made the announcement that Humphrey, vice president of Academic Affairs, was chosen as college president on January 17.

Humphrey, in response about being the first woman president for the college, said, "I hadn't really even thought about it in those terms. It's very exciting just to be president."

Gary Ford, chairman of the Board of Trustees, said, "We believe we have identified who can best lead Missouri Valley into the future. Providing quality leadership in higher education today is a major challenge. It requires a visionary, someone who can take care of the immediate issues while doing quality strategic planning for the future. We believe we have selected a person who is qualified to meet those challenges." Before holding office at Valley, Humphrey spent eight years at Moberly Area Community College where she served as dean of Academic Affairs, associate dean of Academic Affairs, assistant to the president, and adjunct English professor.

Humphrey's educational background is deeply rooted in the mid-Missouri area. She received her bachelor of science degree, master's degree, and doctorate from the University of Missouri-Columbia. She completed her doctorate within the past year. Humphrey was one of three final candidates who were interviewed for the position as part of a national search by the Board of Trustees and its presidential search committee.

The 2004-2005 school year began for MVC with Ford serving as the CEO of the college, following the resignation of President Chad Freeman. Ed Elliott was then selected as interim president of the college and served through the fall semester while a national presidential search and interview process was conducted.

Shown with Mollie E. (Keith) Griffin, MVC's first woman member of the ROTC to be commissioned as a second lieutenant, are two MVC administrators who led the college during the 2004-2005 school year: Bonnie Humphrey, who was named college president in January, and Ed Elliott, who served as interim president during fall semester 2004.

Student competes at Olympics

Delta Story by Ryann Schmidt (published Oct. 8, 2004)

For the first time in history, a Missouri Valley College athlete competed in the Olympic Games. Jeff Cobb, 22, competed in Athens, Greece, in August in the 84 kilogram weight-class of the men's freestyle wrestling, a weight class that included collegiate great Cael Sanderson.

Cobb was one of five athletes selected from his home country of Guam to compete in the Olympic Games, and was chosen to carry Guam's flag during the opening ceremony.

"It was such an honor and privilege. I was shocked that I was selected," he said. Cobb's pool consisted of Cuba's Yoel Romero, who lost his semifinal bout to Sanderson 3-1 and also lost his bronze medal bout 3-1, and Germany's David Bichinashvili.

"I got the opportunity to get a feel for the very best in the world and to know what must be done to get to their level," Cobb said.

Though Cobb dropped both of his matches, he still considered the trip an amazing experience. "The interactions with all the different types of people. The different nationalities and personalities, all living together and interacting with each other without any violence or hatred toward one another. Interacting with all the different countries, it was awesome," he said.

The Athens competition went on while the world was at war, and many wondered whether a terrorist attack would occur.

"Security was very good," Cobb said. "Leading up to the games security was scrutinized very badly, but I felt very secure."

Being one of the youngest, least experienced wrestlers in the field, Cobb was thrown into the international light, but he received great advice from other nation's coaches.

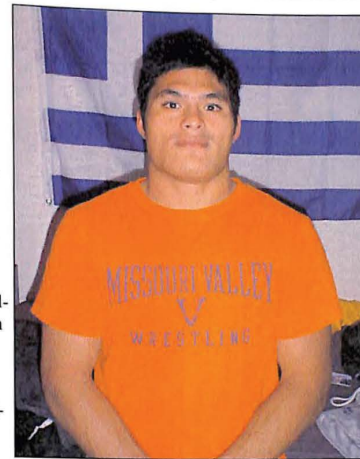

Cobb said, "Many of the United States coaches gave me great advice, especially Dan Gable," a former Olympic gold medalist.

With his free time in Athens, Cobb watched other events and enjoyed sightseeing, visiting some Athens historical sites.

"I watched swimming, track and field, wrestling, the marathon, gymnastics and volleyball," Cobb said. "My favorite attraction in Athens had to be the Acropolis."

Cobb red-shirted last year on the Viking wrestling team and looks to challenge All-American Mario Thomas for a starting position.

"I would like to thank everyone here at MVC for all of the support they have given me," Cobb said. "Thank you all!"

Spring semester 2005

Program takes student to London

Sophomore James Richardson was the first student to participate in MVC's new Study Abroad program, "Semester in London."

He spent the spring semester of 2005 in London, living in a central London flat (apartment) and taking classes from American professors at nearby Imperial College.

Study Abroad students take weekly field trips to places like Bath, Stonehenge, medieval castles, and the British Museum. During the semester break and weekends, students are free to travel on their own. James went to Wales, Scotland, and northern England, and spent spring break in the Amsterdam one weekend and spent one full year and have at least a 3.0 GPA in the program.

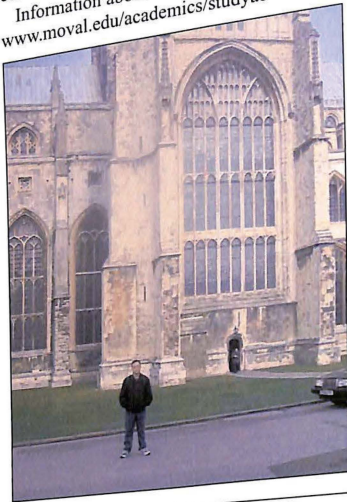

Students who have been at MVC at least one full year and have at least a 3.0 GPA in the program are eligible to apply for Study Abroad. The coordinator for Study Abroad is Claudia Milstead, assistant professor of English. MVC faculty members who hold an earned terminal degree in their discipline are eligible to apply to teach in the London program. John Preus, assistant professor of Art, has been selected to teach in London during the spring 2007 semester. He will teach art appreciation and photography.

MVC offers the Semester in London program through its membership in the Missouri London Consortium and the 35-member Missouri Consortium for International Programs and Studies (MOCON). The consortium works with International Enrichment, Inc., a Napierville, Illinois company founded to provide comprehensive programs in international education to colleges and universities worldwide.

Gift enhances Mass Communication program

Story by Leigh Ann Hartman,
MVC Coordinator of Alumni Relations and PR

Missouri Valley College has received a $15,000 gift from the estate of Veva Jackson Lickey.

Mrs. Lickey was a well-known volunteer in the Marshall area and was inducted into the Missouri Valley College Women's Hall Fame in 1992. She received her degree at Culver-Stockton College in Canton, Mo. and taught school for many years. Lickey died in Marshall, Mo. in October at the age of 97.

The college administration, with the support of the Board of Trustees, determined the Department of Mass Communication, a section of the Arts and Humanities Division, would benefit the greatest from the funds.

Missouri Valley College President Bonnie Humphrey said, "It is always a wonderful surprise when those who feel strongly about Valley show their appreciation through an estate gift." A portion of the funds was reserved for the renovation of the former television studio into three new working spaces, as well as, the renovation of a print journalism production lab. The new classroom contains a 12-foot video projector and computer presentation equipment to allow professors to lecture and students to screen and mix the audio and visual components of their projects. The new editing lab will contain new computers for editing recorded material.

"The new technology is critical for students to gain experience for future use in their careers," said Kendal Rasnake, assistant professor of Mass Communication. An instructor's office has been added and the existing television studio was upgraded with the funds.

Under the supervision of Rasnake and David Roberts, assistant professor of Mass Communication, the department will purchase a new first-class digital camera, several new computers, a lab pack of the publishing program QuarkXPress, a DVD burner and a higher quality laser color printer. Currently, 58 students, majoring in Mass Communication, will benefit directly from the renovations and equipment made possible by this gift.

Roberts praised the gift stating, "The students are pleased to have new equipment to work with and we are grateful to the Lickey family for the gift, Dr. Humphrey for her leadership, and Shannon Johnson, director of operations, for his assistance."

Mass Communication students Jaron Rimson, Joe McHendry, and Kristy Titcomb enjoy the new print lab in Ferguson Room 225.

Outstanding students have been honored since 1934. Their selection is based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

In the edition, the students from Missouri Valley College join students from more than 2,000 institutions in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

News of the Year

Big news of the 2004-2005 school year for Americans was the 2004 election in November, which resulted in the re-election of President George Bush. Missouri was a "red state," voting 53 percent for George Bush/Dick Cheney and 46 percent for John Kerry/John Edwards.

War continued in Iraq and Afghanistan. (As of August 2005, the number of American casualties in the Iraq War reached 1,800, with almost 14,000 wounded. The number of American casualties in Afghanistan totaled 219 in early August 2005.)

The Academy Award for Best Picture went to "Million Dollar Baby." Best actress: Hilary Swank for "Million Dollar Baby." Best actor: Jamie Foxx for "Ray." Best supporting actor: Morgan Freeman for "Million Dollar Baby."

Best supporting actress: Cate Blanchett for "The Aviator." Best director: Clint Eastwood for "Million Dollar Baby." Best documentary: "Born Into Brothels."

For Super Bowl No. 39, the New England Patriots won 24-21 over the Philadelphia Eagles. The MVP was wide receiver Deion Branch.

The American Dialect Society named "red state, blue state, and purple state" as the "Words of the Year." Words that were runners-up included "flip-flopper," "mash-up," "meet-up," and "wardrobe malfunction."

The sight of a student with an ear to a cell phone was very common on campus. Other popular technology: Digital cameras.

Missouri gasoline prices increased and remained high at around $2.29 per gallon.

MVC Library

Murrell Memorial Library/Teachers Education Library

The Program

Murrell Memorial Library with its Teachers Education Library serves MVC through tutorials, information, and events/activities. Library Director Pam Reeder said the library "should be the heart of the campus and the academic center for learning."

The Staff

Murrell Memorial Library staff: Pam Reeder (library director), Mary Slater (reference librarian), Bathsheba Love (circulation services coordinator), Linnea Muller (library assistant), Marilyn Milovich (library services coordinator), Margaret Preus (library assistant). Graduate assistant is Leigh Jaynes and other students include Jessica Casperson, Darby Rusher, Brad Rusher, Renee Cusick, and Kiesa Heckmann.

Events and Activities

Fall 2004: The Murrell Memorial Library/the Teachers Education Library has been active in bringing the campus together with different events in the fall of 2004. An exhibit featuring the "Wildlife Encountered by the Corps of Discovery" was held in November of 2004. The bicentennial of the Lewis and Clark Expedition was commemorated and consisted of a 12-panel exhibit. John James Audubon, Charles W. Schwartz, and other artists were featured. Children's Illustrators and Children's Books event displayed children's books for the holidays. For National Poetry Month, poetry readings were given by faculty, staff and students. There was an exhibit of different works and book-marks were made. Individual artwork displays were provided by students, faculty, and staff of MVC, which included paintings, sculptured ceramics, and photography. This was made possible by MVC Art Department Assistant Professor John Preus. "A Taste of Ireland" was an event that featured a selection of Irish foods and Irish writings. People from the community, students, faculty, and staff were invited to join in the fun. Because it was an election year, the library sponsored a political debate night and viewing of presidential TV debates as well as an election night event. Tom Marshall and Andy Obermann provided the diverse viewpoints. Spring 2005: The Murrell Memorial Library, with its the Teachers Education Library, has been hard at work this year. One series created during the spring semester of 2005 featured the Poet Coffee House. Students met with Claudia Milstead, assistant professor of English, once a month to read and discuss poetry. The library celebrated Mardi Gras on February 7 and 8, with beignets, mask contests, and films.

Pam Reeder cooks some Mardi Gras beignets.

Another memorable event was the Faculty/Staff Valentine's Tea. MVC is in its eighth year of hosting this event. On February 10, Diane Weinreich gave a presentation on the subject of obesity. March 1 was "Read Across America" which featured the Dr. Seuss books. For Women's History month, the Murrell Library/the Teachers Education Library developed displays to honor American women. Another special library event, led by faculty member Dan Bubbs, included discussion about President Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Great Depression, and the movie "The Grapes of Wrath," adapted from a John Steinbeck novel.

Accounting Club

MVC's Own Number Crunchers

Establish A Credit-able Club

The Missouri Valley College Accounting Club has been established as a reputable group on campus for many years. The club provides an avenue by which students, alumni, practitioners, and business people can interact to foster a greater understanding of the accounting profession. The club has maintained this reputation with the aid of its adviser, Professor Patricia Vazzana, who is a certified public accountant.

Pat Vazzana, professor of Business Administration

Add Interest-ing People

The Accounting Club depends greatly upon the support and hard work of the students. The student members of this organization are President Natalie Millard, Recording Secretary Angela Fletcher, Corresponding Secretary Nikol Rogers, Brad Peel, Dhanishtha Kika, Brandon Gervais, Dane William, Mariyana Lechova, Xavier Parra, Phillip Vhondo, Ian Spillman, Amanda O'Brien, Chelsey Black, and Brad Martin.

Members of the Accounting Club join the members of SIFE for a special presentation event at a local elementary school.

Equals A Profitable Investment

The Etiquette Dinner provides great cuisine and a variety of education about the professional business world.

The Accounting Club has both sponsored and participated in many events on campus, such as conducting its annual Valentine's Day project, building floats for the Homecoming parade, inviting professionals to speak on campus, and coordinating the Etiquette Dinner. Students have attended many professional gatherings of the Missouri Society of CPAs, including their Accounting Student BBQ, and many seminars. The club has even given presentations to local fourth grade students.

Book Club

The joy of reading

Club Origin

The Book Club was created in the Fall of 2003 at the end of English 356: The Novel. Students spoke to Professor Milstead about how they would like to have some way to continue with a group study of the type of literature that was encountered in her English class. Professor Milstead informally started the Book Club as a means for these and other students to meet and discuss books.

Adviser

Claudia Milstead, assistant professor of English, and coordinator of Study Abroad

Books read during 2004-05

Club Members

Mass Communication

The Delta and Sabiduria

Sabiduria Yearbook

With past yearbook editor Amy Neff (seated) are 2004-2005 co-editors Jayson Thornton (fall semester) and Leesa Morton (fall and spring semesters). David L. Roberts served as yearbook adviser. This was the first year that the yearbook staff produced a DVD.

The Delta Newspaper

KMVC TV

Mass Com TV expands with equipment, facilities

Mass Communication TV scenes

With funding from the Lickey donation in the spring, the Mass Communication TV broadcasting area expanded with equipment and facilities. Throughout the year, students were busy with production. PHOTOS (from top left to bottom right): Jayson Thornton films the Veteran's Day ceremony; Kendal Rasnake, assistant professor of Mass Communication, teaches the TV courses; Tori Woods and Jerry Menke visit with former MVC Mass Com alum Darren Beasley at a conference; Lincoln Marburger edits some film in the downstairs lab in Ferguson; Professor Rasnake's office in the early construction stage.

KMVC 91.7 FM

KMVC 91.7 FM provides students interested in radio broadcast with hands-on experience. The radio project 91.7 FM is heard throughout the Marshall community. This is the first year that KMVC aired live remote broadcasts at football and basketball games.

First digital photo class offered

The college's first course emphasizing digital photography was taught in the spring semester, as part of the "Photojournalism" class, by David L. Roberts, assistant professor of Mass Communication. In keeping with mass communication industry trends, digital photography moved the class from the traditional darkroom to digital photography programs on the computer. Students in the class were Doug Biggs, Kevin Conrey, LaQuinta Curry, Jovan Jovicic, Liz McAllister, Jessica D. Miller, Randi Milne, Casey Nay, Katie Peters, Josh Pulsifer, and Sebastian Rodriguez.

Angles, reflections, scenics, portraits, lens flare were part of student photos: photo of a football toss by Casey Nay, photo of a reflection in a playground slide by Sebastian Rodriguez, photo of a country scene by Katie Peters, photo of a student in sunlight by Doug Biggs.

Delta News Service

The Delta News Service developed into an additional outlet for students seeking to publish material in a community newspaper. Students had the opportunity to provide stories, photos, and commentary on a weekly basis to the Marshall Democrat-News newspaper. In the fall of 2004, students published 23 news and feature stories and 16 photos in the town newspaper. In the spring of 2005, student published 24 stories and 10 photos. The Delta class was instructed by David L. Roberts. The Saline Today section of the Democrat-News was edited by Chris Post.

Show Choir

All the joys of music with the excitement of dance

"What's the skinny?"

The Show Choir is a fun and entertaining group of MVC singers, directed and choreographed by Diana Malan, associate professor of Music and Theatre. Malan and her students' goal is to create a robust and energetic choir that will perform a variety of music styles, such as Broadway, pop, jazz, rock, and even novelty music, while also incorporating visually exciting dance routines.

Diana Malan, chair of the Music, Theatre, and Dance Departments.

The singing dancing talent

The MCV Show Choir is made up of both very talented singers and dancers. The members of the choir are Genie Banner, Sean Riley, Kyle Gadke, Marylynn Gwatinga, Josh Haggard, Austin Schreck, Katie Zufall, Mike Bentele, Katie Cross, Landon Alexander, Cayla Dunaway, Kali French, Nikki Johnson, Ashley McKay, Brandon Lozano, Emilee Murphree, and Lacey Preston. Also accompanied by, on special occasion, Loren Gruber, English and Mass Communication professor.

Events, activities, highlights, and very highlights

The choir performs at a variety of functions and events throughout the school year, both on and off campus. They perform at the annual Christmas and Spring Shows, along with the Mid-Semester concerts. In the past, the MVC Show Choir has performed in Texas, Chicago, Nassau in the Bahamas, on a Carnival Cruise Liner, at Universal Studios, and even Disney World.

Concert Choir

Missouri Valley College Choral Ensemble

The Love To Sing

The Concert Choir is a choral ensemble class open to all students of MVC, but also acts as an entertaining activity. The group studies and performs a variety of styles of music including contemporary, foreign language, sacred, classical, and other standards. The ensemble provides the students with many opportunities to display their talents of musical ability and leadership skills. There are even prospects for student conductors.

Judy L. Ransom

The Talented Contributors

The Concert Choir is conducted by Judy L. Ransom, assistant professor of Music, and is made up of her students Andrew Waggoner, Sarah Hoorman, Tori Woods, Cori Sandage, T.J. Rose, Genie Banner, Whitney Brown, Martin Cavoti, Kali French, Jesus Gonzalez, Lisa Grandfeld, Savannah Hicks, Autumn Kiso, Benjamin Lowe, Maryaha S. Miranda, Leesa Morton, Emilee Murphree, Jon Strickland, Andrea Walters, Michael Wilder, and Javan Williams.

Judy Ransom conducts the students in the Concert Choir.

Events and Activities

Professor Ransom led the Concert Choir in a number of events throughout the school year. The choir has been seen and heard at many of the frequent all-campus productions, such as the Mid-Semester Concerts, Spring Choral Show, and the popular Christmas Show. The ensemble has also taken part in more unique productions, such as the Student Music recitals, Chamber Music recitals, and even the Madrigal Dinner.

Flatliners

Improv Troupe

The who, where, and with what weapon

The Flatliners are an extremely fun and talented group of MVC students who are interested in practicing and performing with their improvisational skills. The Flatliners' adviser is Tiffany Howard, who also guides and directs this team to its hilarious victories. The group consists of both theatre and non-theatre majors, and is always encouraging new students to participate and share their own improv talents.

Tiffany Howard, assistant professor of Theatre

The quick-witted participants

The Flatliners group is made up of these students: Sean Riley, Austin Schreck, Michael Bentele, Landon Alexander, Josh Haggard, Ashley McKay, Andy Waggoner, Emilee Murphree, Andy Logue,

The most fun on campus late at night!

The Flatliners use improvisation as a fun activity, but also as a training tool for aspiring performers. By listening to their fellow partners and trusting in their decisions, improv aids in developing communication skills and sharpening wit.

The Flatliners do this through games, such as "Murder Mystery," "Scenes From a Hat," and "What About Bob?" They have multiple performances throughout the year in the Black Box Studio, beneath Morrison Gym. Performances are free and open to all.

One-Act Festival

A LOT OF THEATRE CRAMMED INTO A LITTLE BLACK BOX

The Inspiration

The One-Act Festival is a night of theatre dedicated to showing the talents of student playwrights, directors, and actors who have yet to display the remainder of their amazing abilities within the few productions that have already taken place throughout the school year. The festival was created, produced, and stage managed by Michael Amoroso, who devoted many long hard hours simply out of his "love for the Theatre department."

Michael J. Amoroso

Playwrights and Directors

Branden Tatum and Michael Bentele in a one-act drama.

The playwrights of these student pieces were Jessica Swanson (Distorted Feedback), and Michael Amoroso (Richard in the Park, and The Slugger), as well as Josh Haggard (P.O. 120, and The Jury of John), Emilee Murphree (While You Were Peeing), and Landon Alexander (Double Entendre), who also directed their fellow playwrights' pieces. Along with those individuals were the additional directors Alisha Gresham, Tom Eggers, Lacey Preston, and Lisa Beke.

The Acts

The night's performances were an impressive array of comedy, drama, and absurdity. "P.O. 120" expressed some views about the harmful chemicals in cigarettes, while "Distorted Feedback" told the tale of a young girl's search for self. "While You Were Peeing" told the funny story of bathroom "Life Updaters," a strong contrast from "The Jury of John's," a tale of suicide. "Richard in the Park" shows a hopeful playwright; "Double Entendre," the drama between two college roommates; and finally "The Slugger," an unfortunate story of a sister with schizophrenia.

HOMECOMING

Katie Cross and Matt Rene are the Homecoming Queen and King.

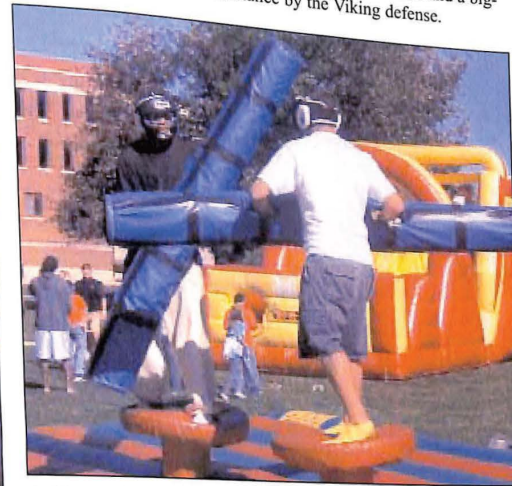

The Polynesian Club won the parade float contest.

In an exciting Homecoming game with a double overtime, the Vikings won 27-23 over William Jewell College. Quarterback Roy Harden threw for four touchdowns and running back Jason Rogers scored with a 43-yard pass. The game was won by a four-yard pass to wide receiver Devin Gordon and a big-time goal line stance by the Viking defense.

Editing note: If pages pertaining to special events, individual sports, organizations, or other subjects aren't within this book, it could mean that the students assigned those pages did not complete the pages to an acceptable status. As the yearbook is an in-class project, it relies upon the diligent work of the students in order for the book to be completed. We'd like to thank all students, faculty and staff who assisted with the project.
